The COYOTE
1933

Published by the Senior Class of Wichita Falls High School
Wichita Falls, Texas

Editor's Note

The architects dreamed of our beautiful W. F. H. S. back in 1923. The builders made that dream come true in steel and stone and clay and sand. Then into the halls of the building came another set of builders and dreamers, who worked with living clay to fashion a better citizenship. This living product acknowledges the dreams in this volume, the dreams which, they hope, have drawn only the finest materials and the noblest ideals from THE BUILDING.

DEDICATION

of

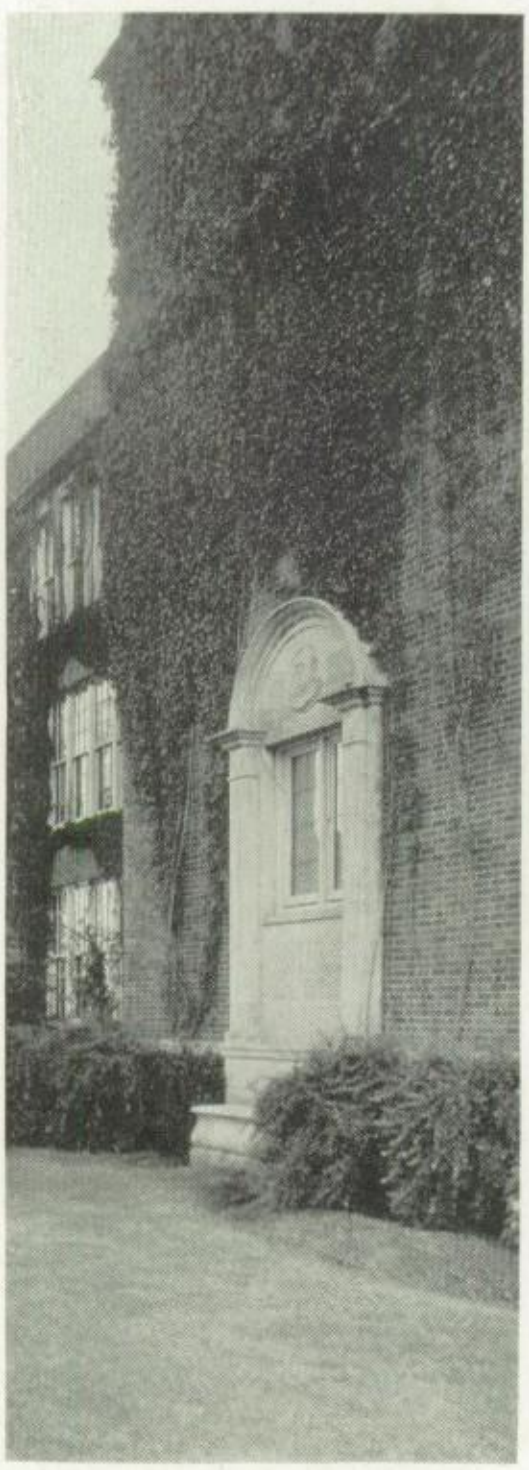
to

MR. A. K. PRESSON

Vice-Principal High School

by

The Coyote Staff



GREAT men are needed to make great schools and to lead youth on, or there would be no good in the material building. One learns more from men like this one than is told in many books because he is farther along the road of life and experience and has human understanding. This dedication is a meager token of our deep appreciation of what he has done for us and of our love for him as a man among men and a leader.

Friend more divine than all the divinities.

Helen Ragland

Girl Reserves '32, '33.

Beauty has its own excuse for being.

Billy Ross James

Track '32; Basketball '32; Gym Leaders' Club '31.

Possessed of that lazy, misleading grace which is powerful, Billy is a potential athlete.

Roger Tittle

Gens Romana '30, '31; Engineers' Club '32, '33; Music Club '31, '32; Glee Club '31, '32.

He can be more clever than one but not more clever than all.

Cecil Rogers

In strong, silent men, still waters run deep.

Merl Schellhase

Concentration alone conquers, but personality helps also.

Cleo Shipley

Girl Reserves '30-'33; Art Club '30.

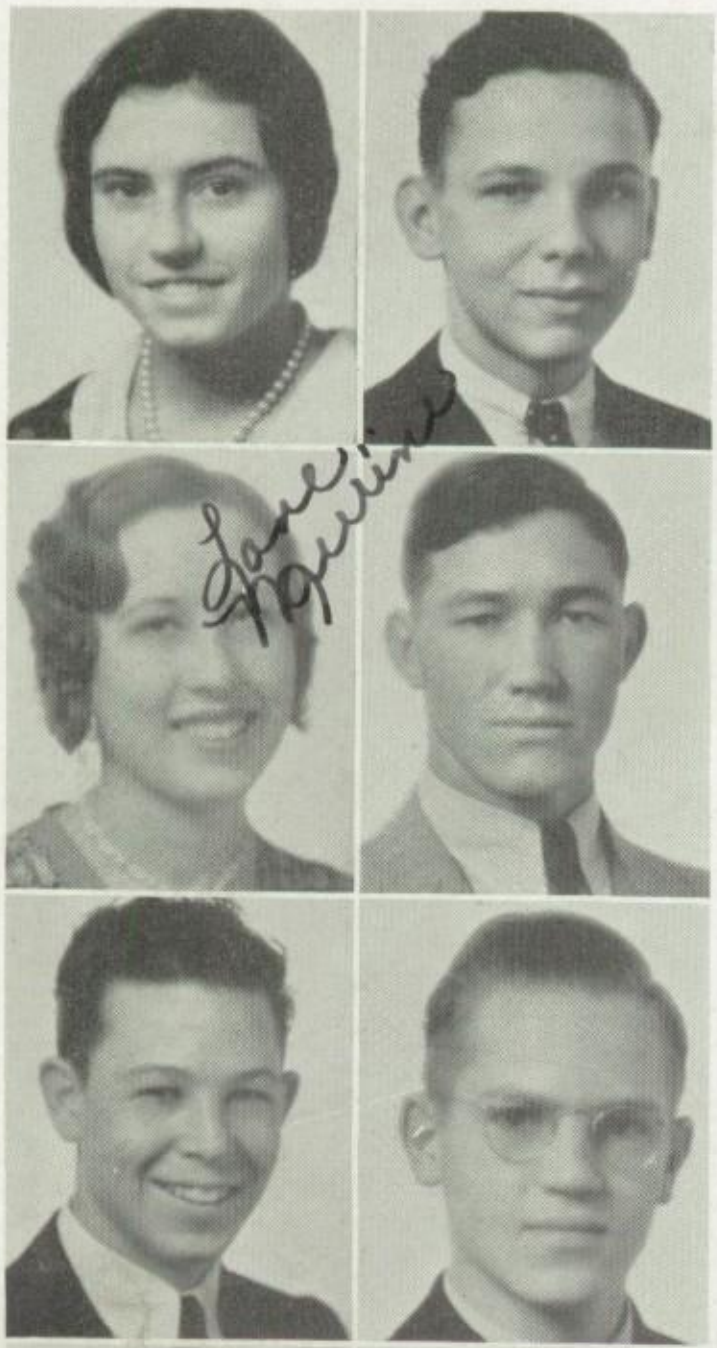
Dainty, attractive, clever,
Found alone most never,
This is our Cleo ever.

Mac Taylor

Gym Leaders' Club '30 ,'31.

Why worry about manners so long as we are happy?

JANUARY CLASS



FERNETTA FOLEY
Gens Romana 30-'32; Girl Reserves '30.
A friend is never known till a person have need.

JOHN GARNETT
Hi-Y '32, '33.
Silent when glad; affectionate, though shy.

MAURINE NASH
El Circulo Espanol '30, '31; Music Club '31; Girl Reserves '30-'32.
Loose now and then a scattered smile, that I may live upon 't.

R. J. BYRD
Football '30, '31, '32.
Patient and powerful, grit and grin, fight and win, that's R. J.

JACK GREGG

The Favorites

THE school beauty, the most popular boy, and the most popular girl are elected soon after the Christmas holidays by the majority vote of the entire student group. Soon after their election, they are announced at the Beauty Show or in the Wichitan. The latter plan was used this year, as the annual choice of the thirty beauties and the show in which they are presented was not given.

The representative boy and the representative girl are selected by an entirely different procedure. Five students, the president of the senior class, the Girl Reserve president, the Hi-Y president, and two other prominent students, and five faculty members, the sponsor of the Honor Society, the two gymnasium instructors, a senior teacher, and one other outstanding teacher, choose a senior to fill each place by a certain set of qualifications.

Scholarship, physical well-being, character, and social leadership are the four items on which each is scored by sub-committees of the group of ten. The five girls and the five boys making the highest averages in these scores are then presented to the committee general without ranking as to average. Preferential ballot is used to determine the chief candidates in this group of five. Two or three highest are then balloted on to determine the representative in each case. Thus are the representative boy and the representative girl chosen.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Membership in the National Honor Society is based upon scholarship, character, leadership, and service. Only fifteen per cent of any graduating class is eligible, and this group must be chosen from the upper quartile of the class. Five per cent of the junior class is also eligible, and these are taken from the upper ten per cent of the class. These prospective members are recommended by a committee of five teachers and the vice-principal and are submitted to the entire faculty for approval. To be chosen a member of this society is one of the highest honors that comes to a high school student. Miss Pauline Shirley is sponsor of the group.

COYOTE STAFF

The Coyote Staff is made up of members from the senior class, with assistants from the junior and sophomore classes, whose purpose it is to publish an illustrated record of the school year. They strive to make the publication representative of the entire group, especially the senior members whose last year it is. To achieve a high place in national contests, as Coyotes of the past have done, is an ambition that keeps them also working late and long. Mr. J. W. Williams and Miss Louise Kelly are the sponsors.

WICHITAN STAFF

The Wichitan Staff is the organization that produces the school weekly, The Wichitan. Faculty supervisors are A. F. Edwards, sponsor, R. O. Jonas, news, Miss Hendrick, features, and I. C. Presson, circulation, and Paul Barnett, business manager. The Wichitan, published by both junior college and high school, is a charter member of the National Scholastic Press Association. This weekly keeps the entire student body informed of the activities in the many phases of school life with its jokes, ads, pages of activities, pictures, personals, and scandal.

GIRL RESERVES

The Girl Reserve organization is one of the outstanding clubs in the school. Its aim is to develop beautiful character by helping others and by striving for good companionship and by offering more clean wholesome fun. The club is led by the Girl Reserve Cabinet, which consists of five divisions: Finance, Membership, Service, Program, and Social committees, each with certain duties to perform. In this way the helpful and enjoyable work of the Girl Reserves is carried on under the direction of Miss Juanita Kinsey.

GIRL RESERVES

Some of the most noticeable work of the Girl Reserves this year is the annual Christmas tree for the small unprivileged children and the full baskets of healthful food for many needy families distributed at Thanksgiving and Christmas. Similar offerings were sent to other parts of the United States this year as a new project. Although good works is the major part of the program of the club, its members have ample time for parties and outdoor sports as indicated by the snapshots above.

HI-Y

The purpose of the Hi-Y organization is the betterment of the community through Christian living. The organization meets every Monday night to discuss matters of current interest through which they might better themselves and others. Occasionally, inspirational speakers and musical numbers from visitors add further interest to the programs. As in former years, the outstanding event of the year is the Older Boys' Conference, held at Plainview. The Wichita Falls club has been well represented at these conferences, and its members have taken important parts in the programs. Joe Witherspoon, district president, Guy Underwood, president of the Congress, a specially selected group, and Marvin Pierce, secretary of the Congress, were quite influential in the conference this year. The sponsor, Mr. T. F. Richardson, is the strong character who leads the group.

SPEAKERS' CLUB

From the student speakers of today will rise the renowned speakers of tomorrow. Extemporaneous speaking, declamation, debate—all these prepare the would-be-orator for the future. In the Speakers' Club are those with talent who will enter one of these fields. Many of the representatives of the high school in Interscholastic League contests have had their early training on the Speakers' Club programs. Much of the success of this club of many years' standing must be credited to Miss Juanita Kinsey, the sponsor.

GENS ROMANA

The programs of Gens Romana concern Roman customs and ways of living. In this way, the students receive a broader view of this ancient civilization. Several members, under the sponsorship of Miss Lona Brown, have developed an interest in Roman history and dress, for two vividly portray the slaying of Julius Caesar, and one aspires to the orations of Cicero. The outstanding social event of the year is the banquet in which the students array themselves in Roman dress.

A thorough knowledge of both mathematics and science is required of boys asking for membership. Various phases of engineering are discussed at meetings, enabling each member to become acquainted with that part of the science which appeals to him. Miss Shirley, the sponsor has created much enthusiasm for the work, and the club is a popular and interesting one.

HIGH SCHOOL BAND

The High School Band serves the purpose during the football season of stirring mind and soul to an attitude of pep enthusiasm. With their uniforms, acquired through the enthusiasm of the P. T. A., of red sweaters, black trench caps, and black trousers, they presented a striking picture at every pep rally and football game. They played stirring tunes and songs at the rallies and led in the singing and stunts at each game. One could not imagine a football game without the band directed by Tom McCarty, ably assisted by Star Keller, drum major, and S. H. Rider, Jr., mascot.

GYM LEADERS' CLUB

The Boys' Gym Leaders' Club is representative of boys who take an unusual interest in physical education. They assume the responsibility of directing class work and organizing the boys in their games. The different phases of gym work are: football, basketball, volley ball, track, and stunts. Participating in these sports, the youths of today are preparing themselves for the hard-fought battles of tomorrow. One also learns the value of team-work. The boys receive their training in this phase of school life from Mr. Frazee, the instructor.

GYM LEADERS' CLUB

The Girls' Gym Leaders' Club is composed of girls who are above the average in athletic ability. Formerly, the leaders were appointed by the physical education instructor; the leaders of '33, however, were elected by their classmates. The duties of the gym leaders are assisting in the class work and keeping an accurate record of the class roll. Gym work offers a wide variety in the field of recreation. The games that provide team work are baseball, basketball, volley ball, and hockey. Stunts, exercises, and pyramid-building require active and alert minds. Worthwhile improvments have been made in the gymnasium through the efforts of Miss Mangum, the instructor.

COACHES

Ted Jefferies

Coach Ted Jefferies has been only a year in W. F. H. S., but he has become popular with the student group and faculty as well as the athletes, because of his ideals and ability in the athletic line.

Lennie Mangum

Lennie Mangum, spending her first year in W. F. H. S., has proved to be an efficient director of girls' athletics and coach of the volley ball team. She has also led the pep squad through a successful season.

W. J. Morris

Bill Morris works in harmony with the other two coaches. It is Morris' valuable training and instructing that accounts for many valuable plays in the games.

Tom McCarty

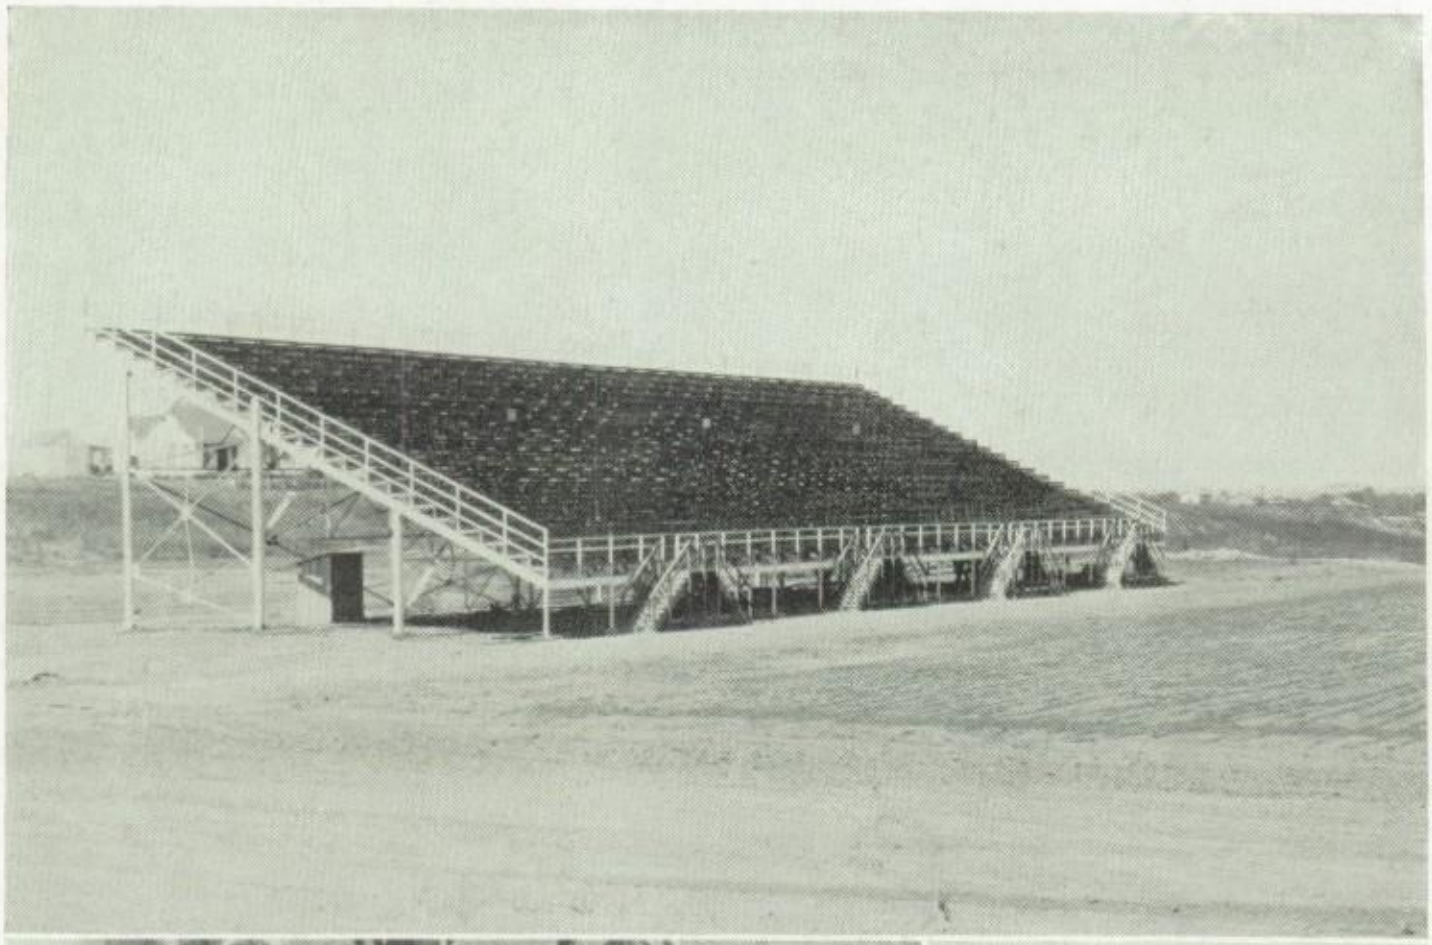
Tom McCarty coaches tennis in the spring and leads the band during the football season. He has a smile and a good word of cheer for all.

Charles Lindsey

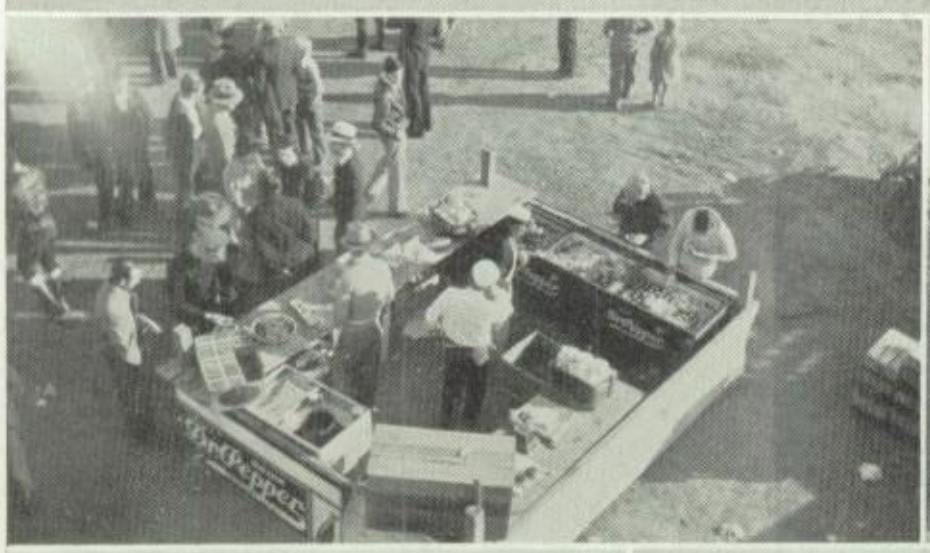
Charles Lindsey, teammate of Jefferies at Centenary, does his work as assistant coach in a clear, decisive manner. He puts spirit into the players that really helps.

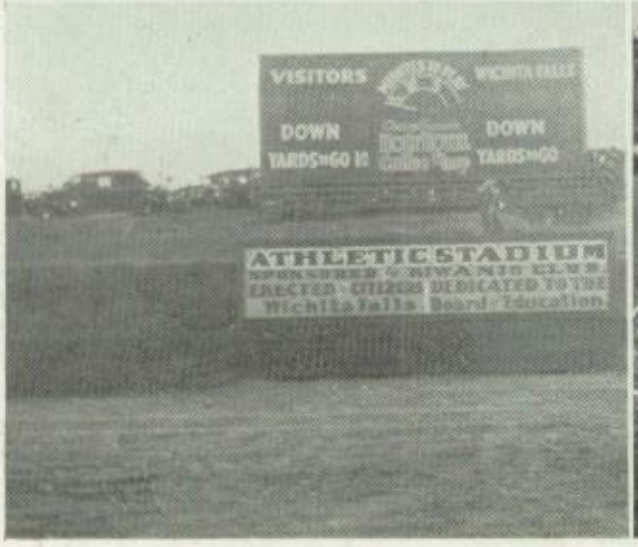
J. N. Hall

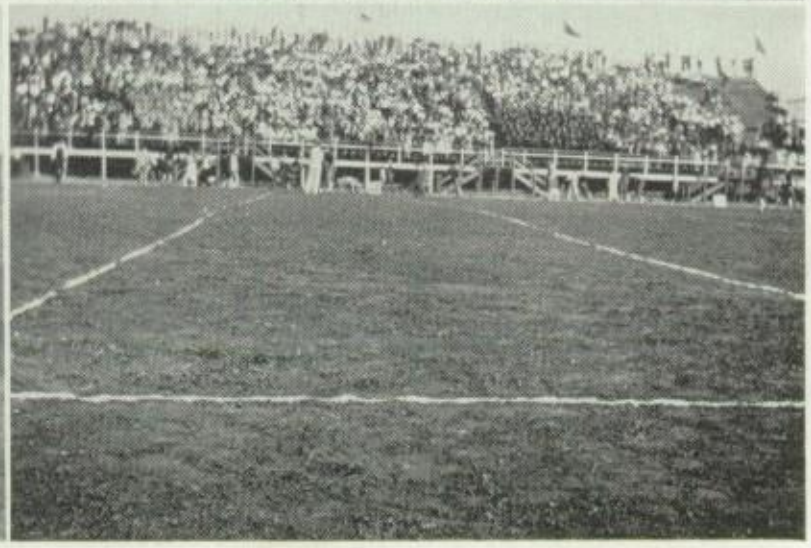
J. N. Hall does not look much like a track man but he has surely trained some of the fastest and best track teams in the state. He just tells them how to do the part, and they do it.



Wichita Falls High School Athletic Stadium

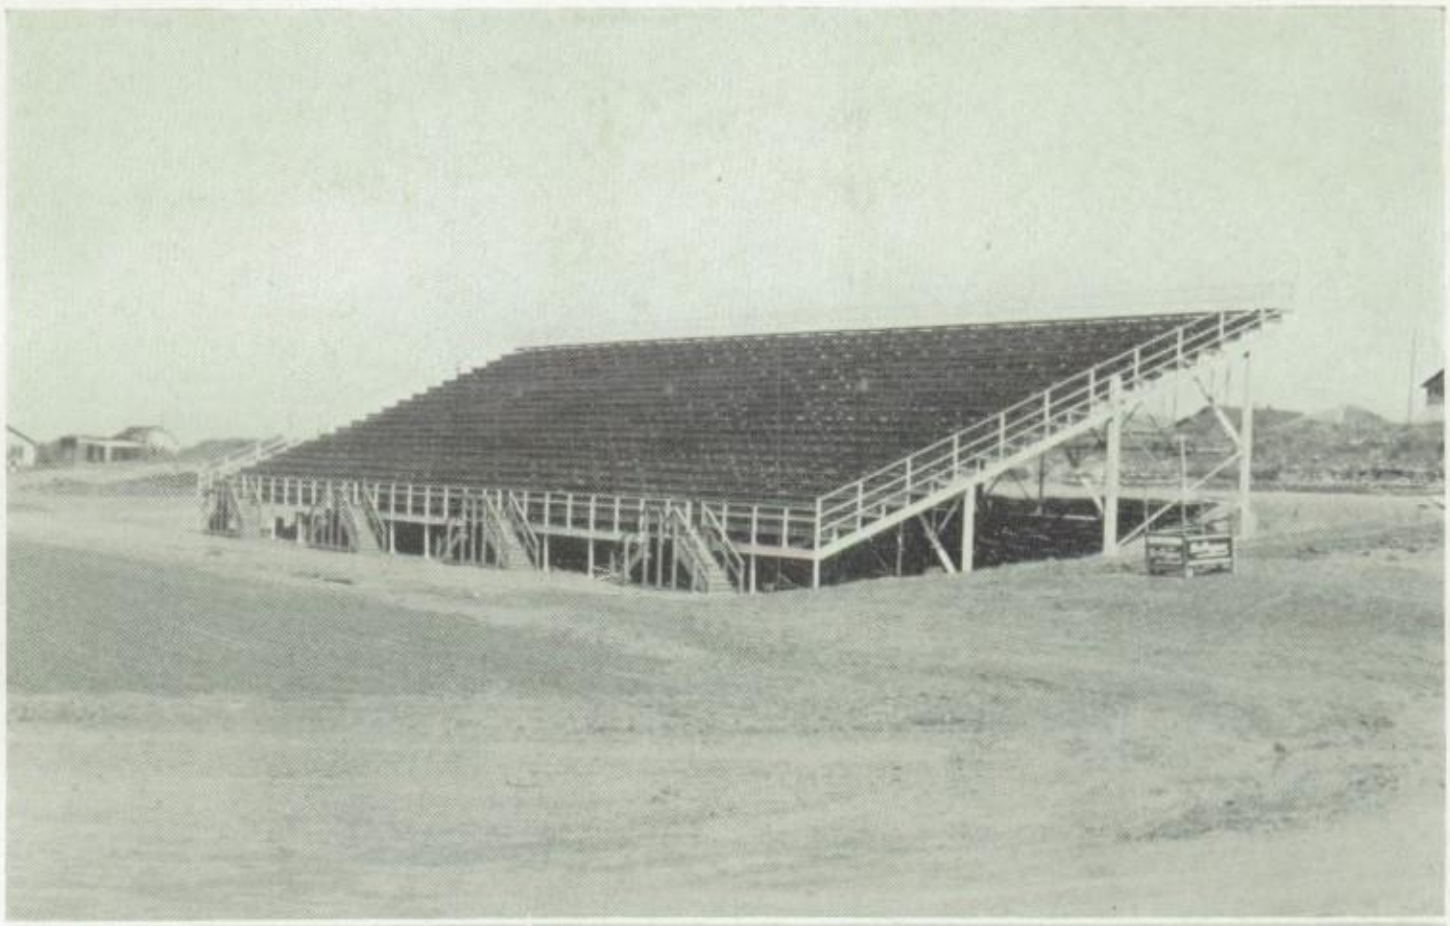


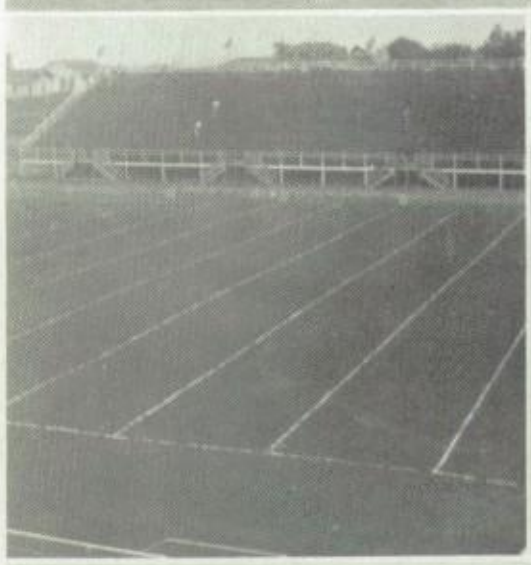


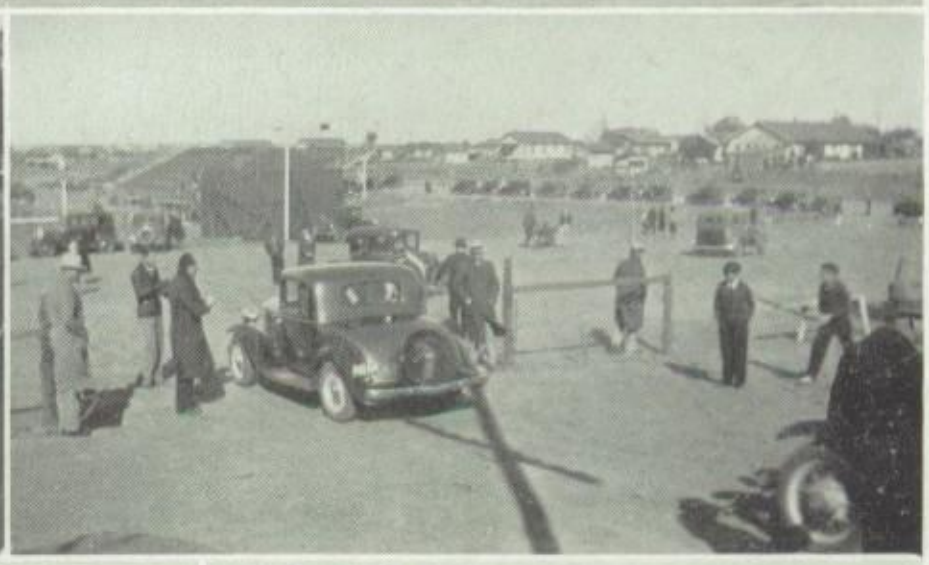


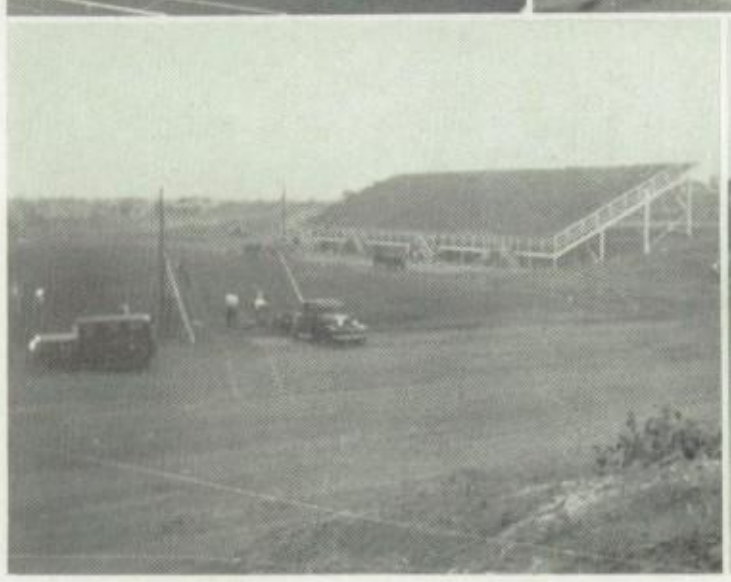
The Wichita Falls High School Athletic Stadium was first put into use this year with an impressive dedication ceremony before our first home football game. Situated in a natural declivity overlooking the river bluffs, the stadium will be one of the most attractive spots in town when all landscaping has been completed. The location is at the north end of Harrison Street between Fourth and Sixth streets.

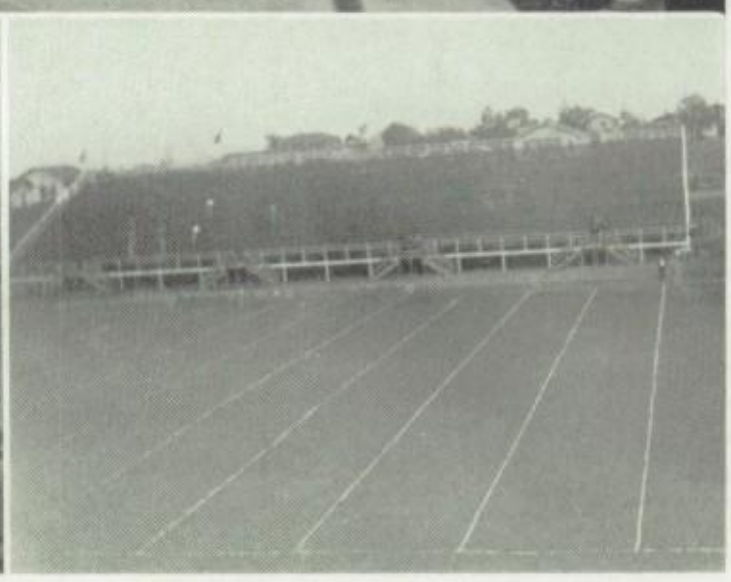
Wichita Falls High School Athletic Stadium











The beautiful stadium has been made possible by the cooperation of the citizens and firms and clubs of the city. The Kiwanis Club started and sponsored the movement, gaining donations from some seventy-five individuals and some sixty firms, banks, and hotels to make possible the purchase of the old Call Field grandstand. The work of tearing down and reconstruction was done through the Family Relief Association and cooperating firms. In fact, every agency in town had a part in this community project, even the football boys themselves.

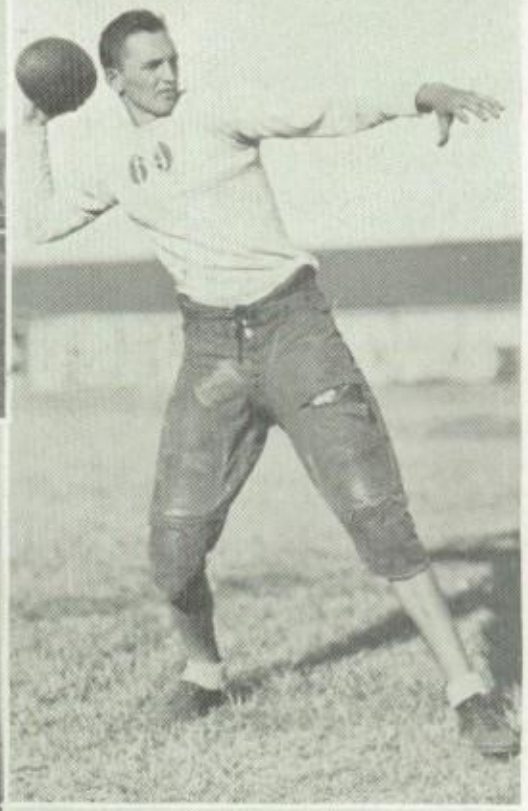
Ed Greenwood

Ed Greenwood was an ideal captain of the football team, seeing that everything went just right and fighting hard and furiously. His example is an excellent one to follow.



Burns McKinney

Burns, a flashy half back, accounted for much of the yardage gained. A good broken - field runner with plenty of speed, he can get to the goal, if he can get out of the scrimmage line.

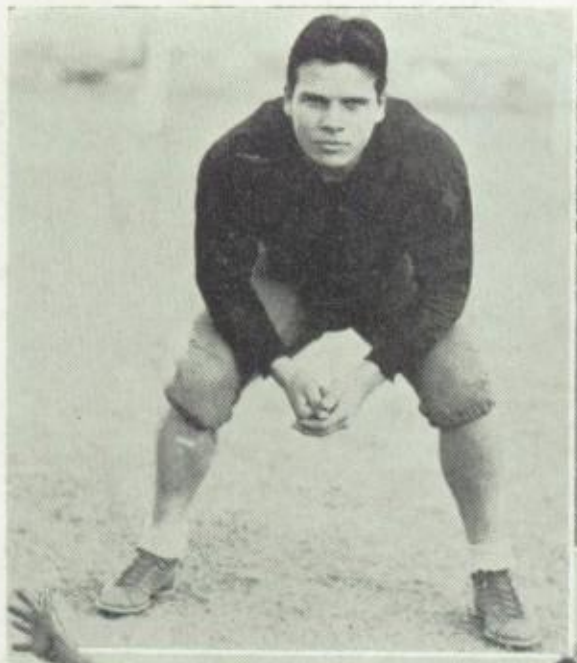
A. G. Fletcher

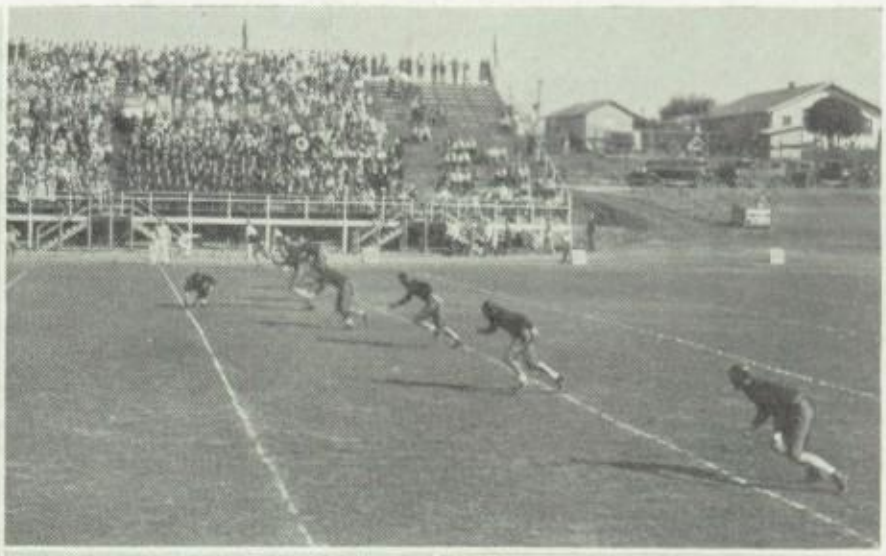
A. G. shared the end position with Brandon. He has speed, daring, and knowledge of the game. His love of the game gave him experience this year.

Work on the new stadium put the boys in fair condition for the football season, beginning the first week in September. Forty-seven stalwarts reported for the first practice under Coaches Jefferies, Lindsey, and Morris. Jefferies introduces them to a different system of football, new to this section but pleasing to the many fans here. This wing-back system differed from the one in former use in Wichita Falls, and the boys seemed slow in mastering it. It features deceptive plays, quick-opening plays, and a powerful forward passing attack. Six letter men from the '31 season returned: Greenwood, Captain, Brandon, utility, L. McBride, tackle, J. McBride, runner and passer, Powell, quarterback, and McKinney, flashy runner.

J. Z. Powell

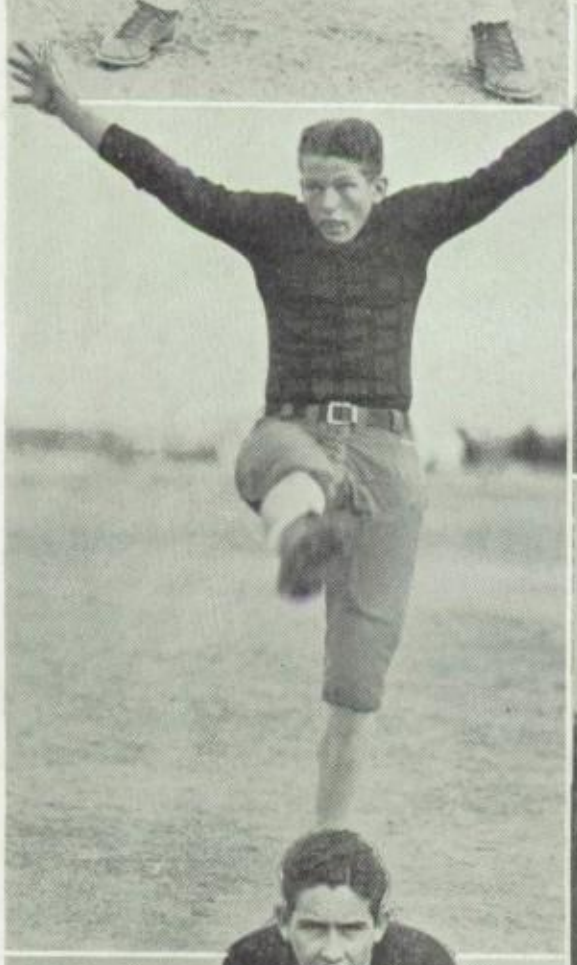
J. Z. is an excellent member of a famous athletic family who keeps up the good tradition. Besides engineering plays he constantly backs up the line in defense work.

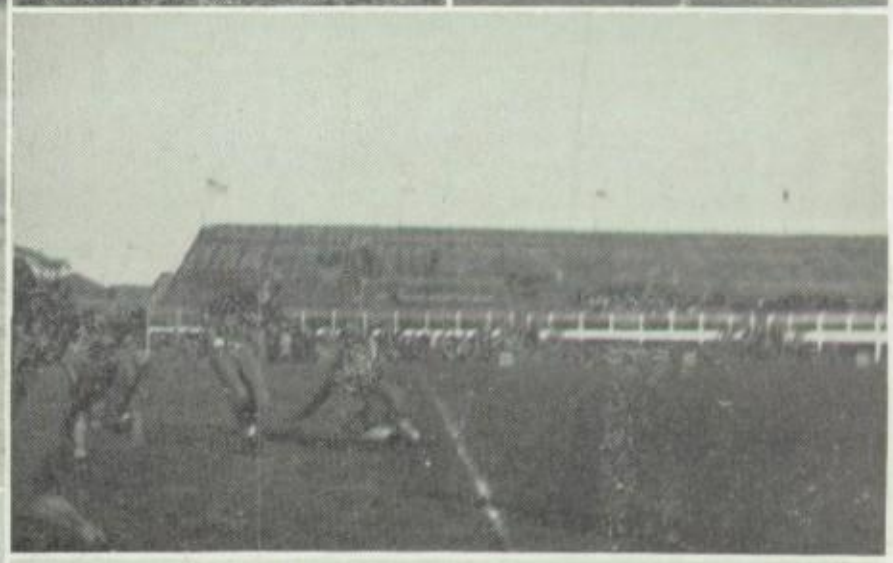




James Hill

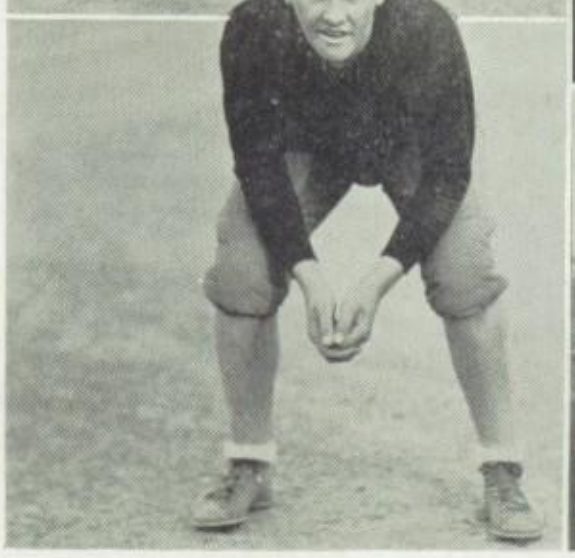
James's punting at the Vernon game will go down in Coyote history. Not only can he punt but he can pass, block, and fight equally as well. His playing of the safety position is unexcelled this year.





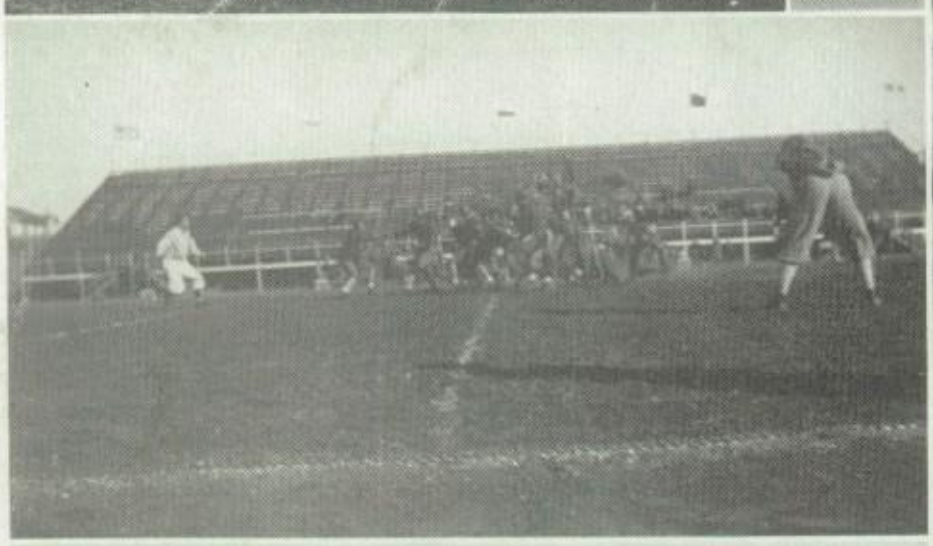
Jack Randolph

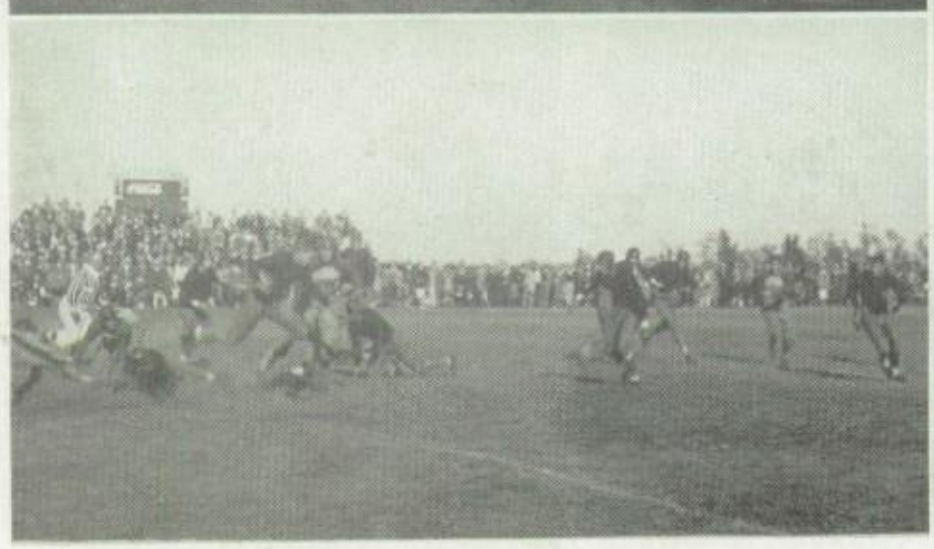
New at Coyote playing this year, Jack got little chance to make a mark. He indicates a menace in the backfield for opponents to come. He developed much as the season progressed.



The first game of the season, against Ardmore, initiated the new coach and the new stadium. Ardmore had defeated the Coyotes the year before 20-19, but this year the score was favorable to the Pack 20-0. After the half the coach ran in the second string to finish the game, the visitors finding them to be sufficient opposition.

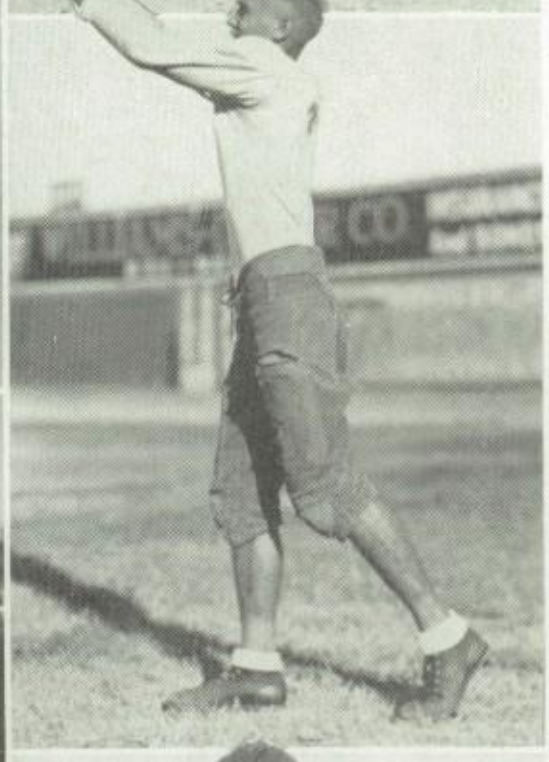
The initial conference game, at Electra, was played under the lights at night. The Coyotes were favored to win, but as usual in a Wichita-Electra game, the Tigers put up a stiff battle from start to finish to hold their visitors to a lone seven points. Thompson smashed through from the two yard line after Hill's good use of a snatched pass.





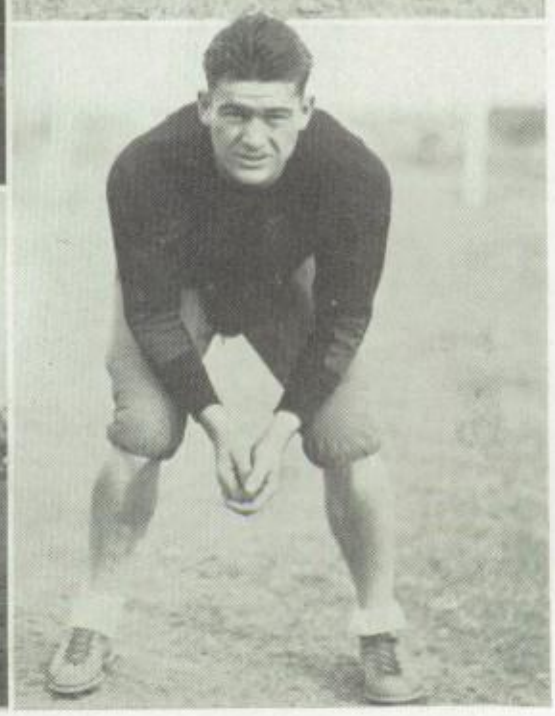
Cleveland Pierson

Cleve, one of the smallest backs on the Coyote team, put his name among those present when he skipped to a touchdown against the former state champions on a double lateral pass. His fight and genial disposition made him a pleasure to work with.



Charles Hurd

Charles Hurd was injured early in the season, but before that he was on the receiving end of many Coyote passes that contributed largely to the score. He certainly had that ball tamed.



Weldon Beck

Weldon Beck was much larger in fight than he was in size. This spirit was a vital factor to the team. His ability at blocking spilled many an enemy player's ambition to gain ground.

The new Coyote Stadium was dedicated at the third game. The ceremony was a spectacular affair under the direction of Dr. Collard, President of the Kiwanis Club, sponsors of the project. The massed pep squads and bands in formation, the scout buglers, the raising of the immense American flag, and the unison Star Spangled Banner, all gave an unforgettable scene. The ball used was dropped from an airplane during the dedication.

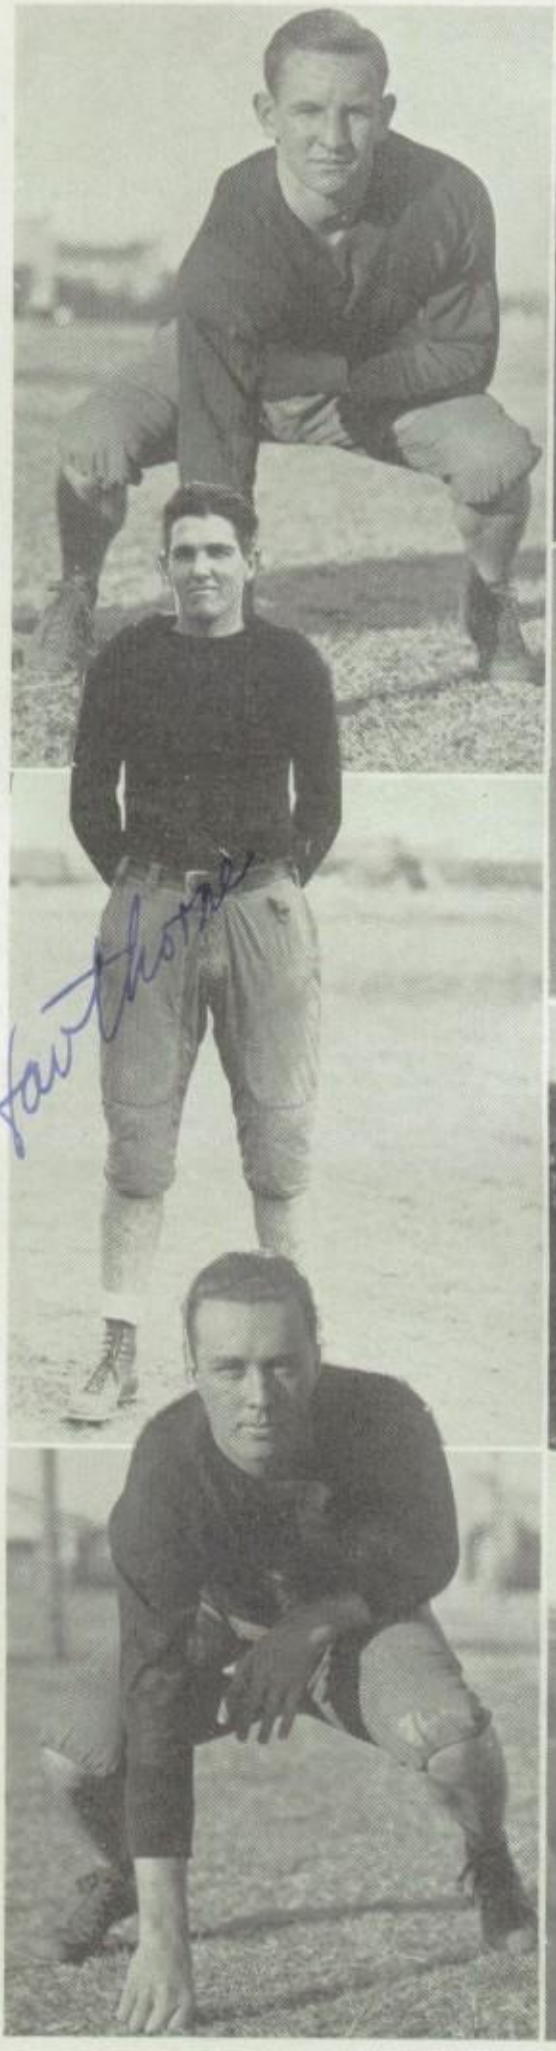
A crowd of about five thousand saw Wichita give Quanah a stubborn battle, though the edge was with the visitors. The Indians recovered a blocked punt for their only count. The Coyotes reached the two yard line once but failed to carry through on four attempts.

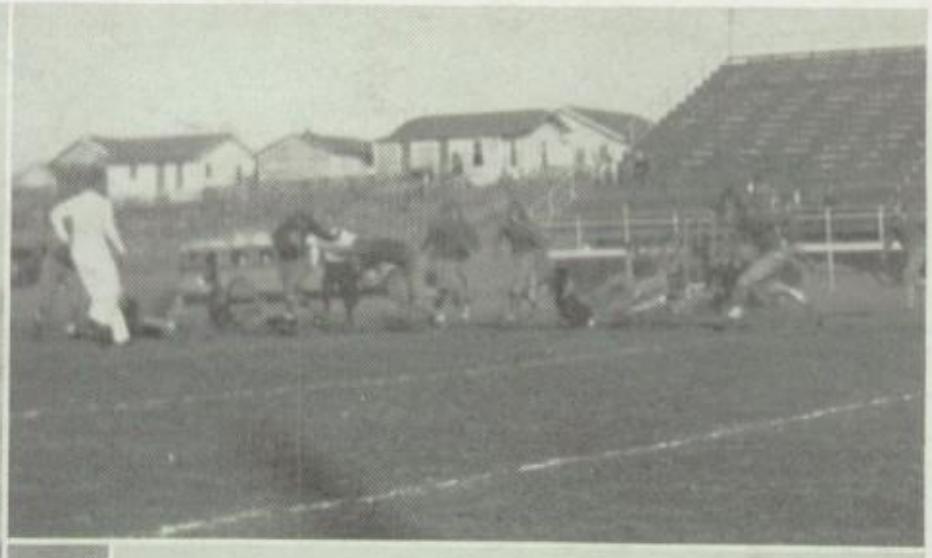
W. D. Tollett

W. D. Tollett, a sophomore, played his first year with the team at tackle. From the plays he managed to get into, one sees a blood-thirsty tackle in the making.

W. J. Hawthorne

W. J. Hawthorne, a senior, could run interference on the sweeping end runs or criss-crosses as well as any backfield man on the squad.



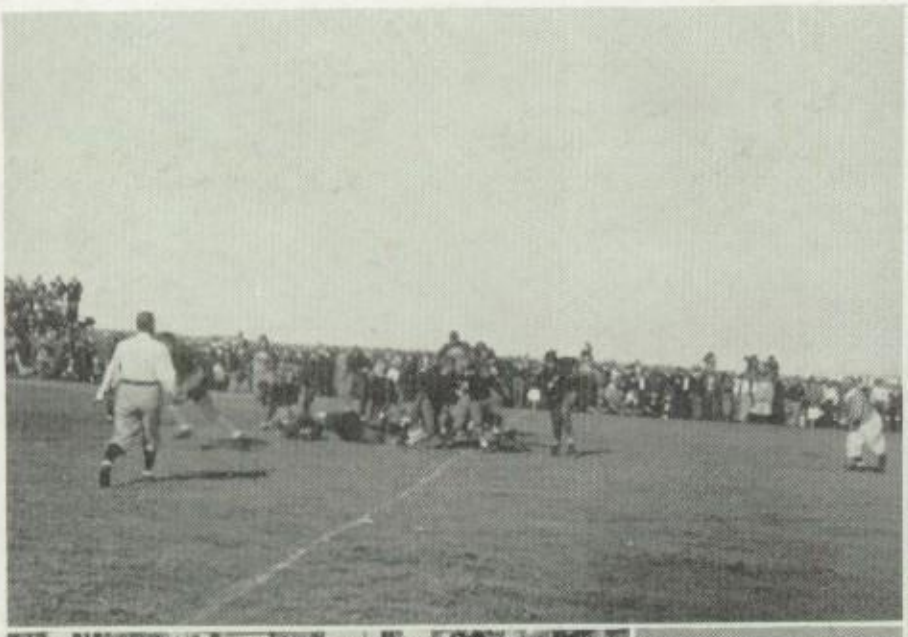


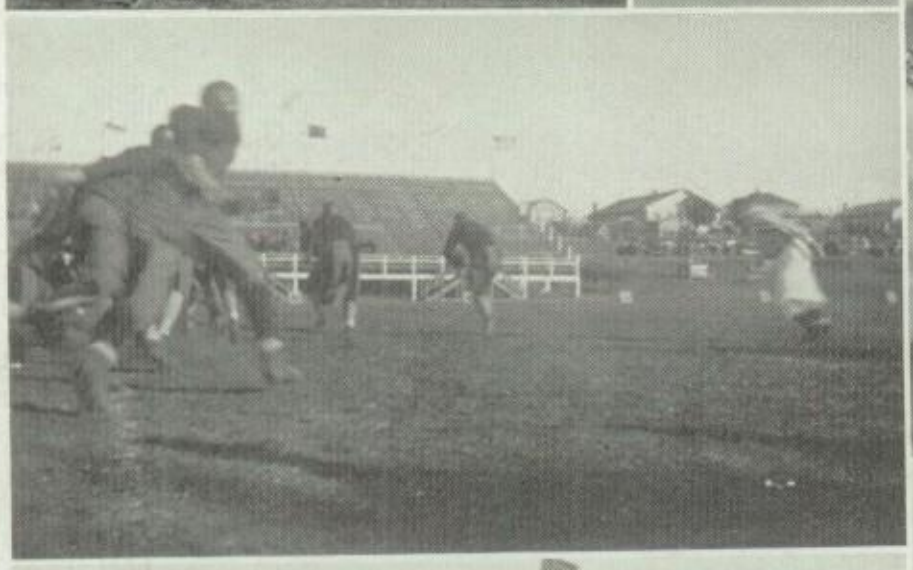
Robert Brandon

Bob, the 185 pound six-footer, started the season at tackle and played almost every position, winding up at tackle again. He made himself known wherever he chanced to play.

Grandfield visited the stadium for another loss for the Coyotes in a practice game. The Pack had a number of men on the injured list and those that were in played a ragged game.

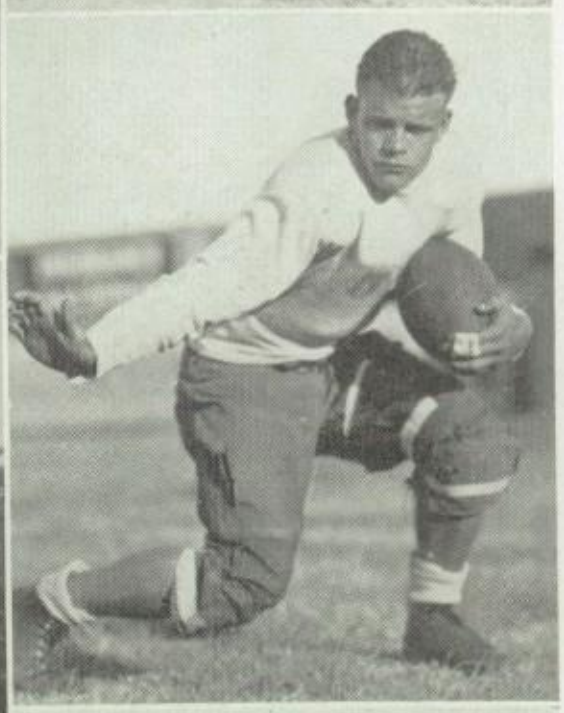
Jefferies and his bunch journeyed to Vernon for the third conference game. The Lions were doped to win, and the dope bucket was not upset. As the Vernon team entirely outclassed the Coyotes from the start to the finish, their sweeping plays proved too much for the Pack's defensive efforts. The Coyotes left a mark of distinction, however, in the long and accurate punting of James Hill.





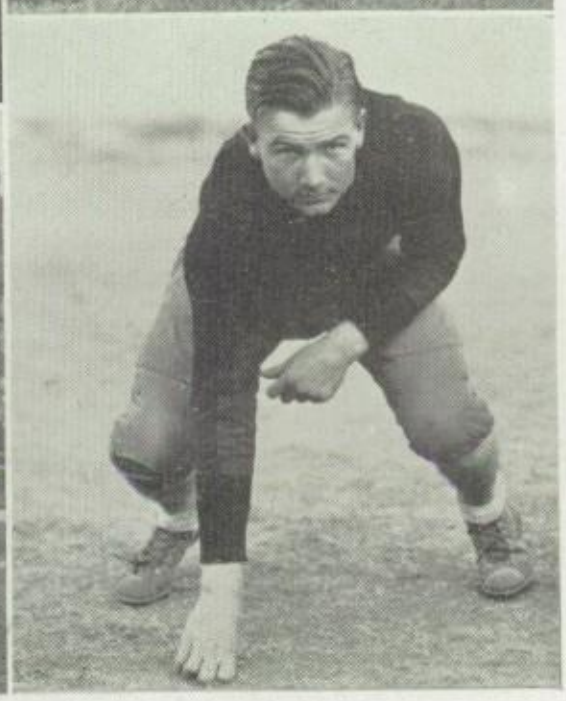
R. D. Foster

R. D., line captain for the 1933 season, played his position well. Better still was his constant talk, encouragement to the other men for better fighting.



Cleo Creecy

Cleo, whose sole ambition is to play good football, is the fastest and most aggressive halfback. Crudd did his best work against the Golden Sandstorm.



Willard Smith

Willard is another of those tough guards, from whom more power and skill is expected. When a line was to be opened, Bib could do it.

The Childress game concluded the conference schedule, the Pack falling on the Bobcats in a blood-thirsty manner and sweeping up and down the gridiron for five touchdowns. More spirit and fight was shown by the Coyotes in this game than in any other game of the entire season, and every fan rejoiced in the show of football spirit.

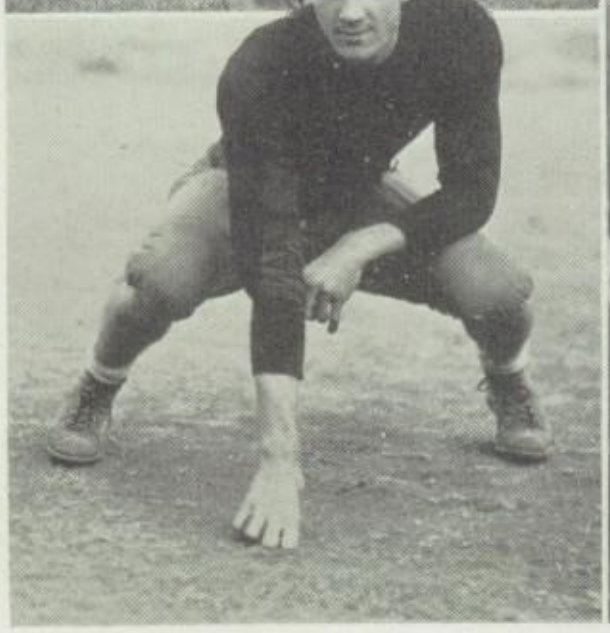
Wichita was host to the Golden Sandstorm from Amarillo on Armistice Day. Although they were the under-dogs, the Coyotes forced the visitors to battle for every bit of ground that they gained. The six points scored by the Coyotes was the first score against Amarillo this season. Creecy's dash of thirty-two yards through the Sandies' iron wall will not soon be forgotten.

Charles Rice

Charley was the tallest and sturdiest man playing at center. He had a habit of reaching high and snatching enemy passes and should have been a better foe.

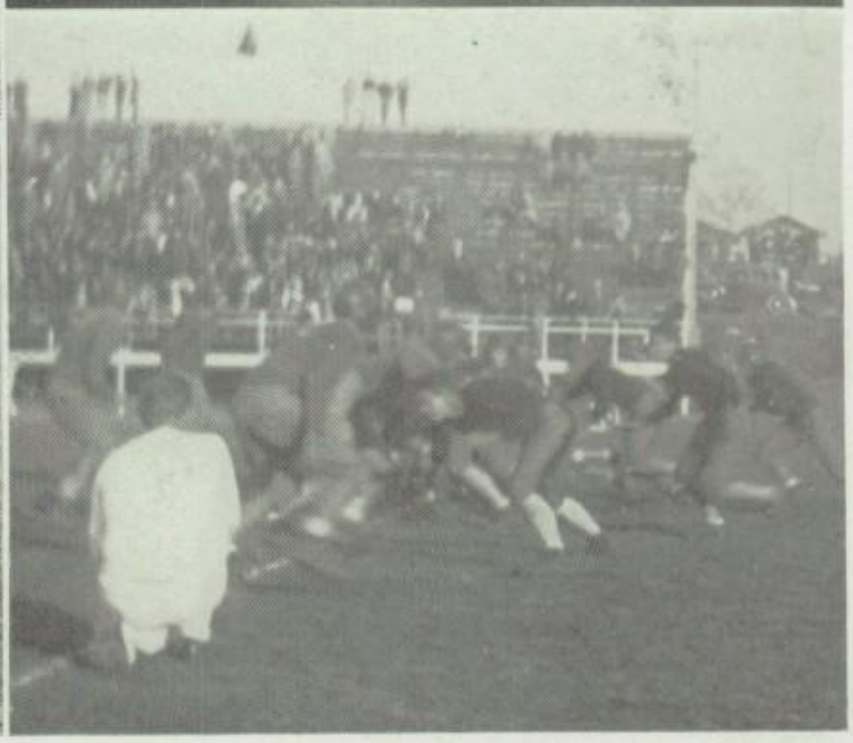
Preston Thompson

Preston was one of the most consistent line plungers and fullbacks that lugged the pigskin this fall. He had plenty of bone and muscle to batter the opposing forces. They found out about him.



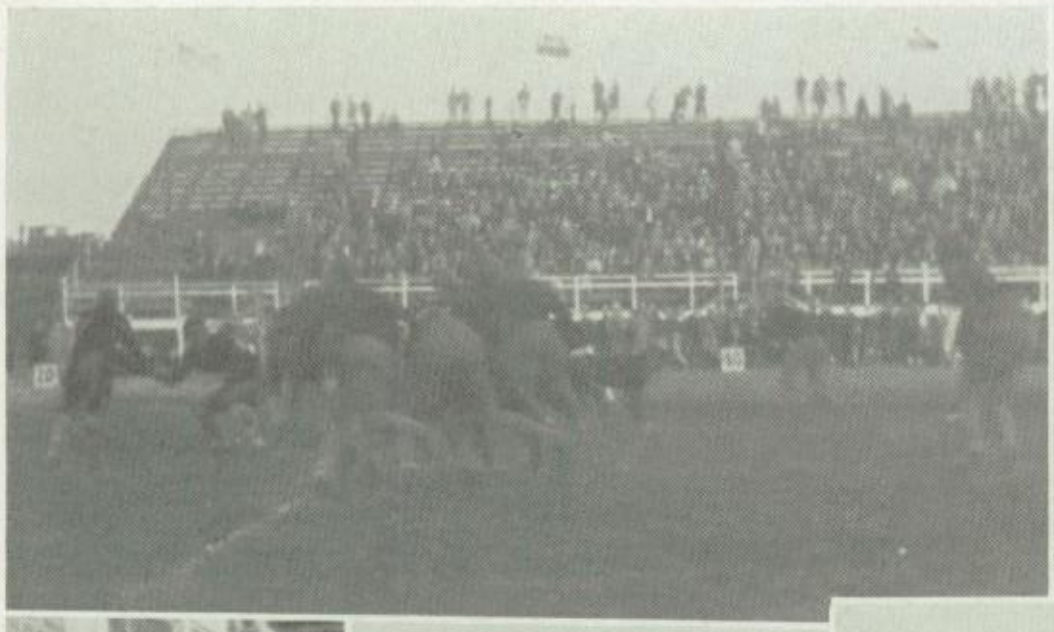
J. L. Creecy

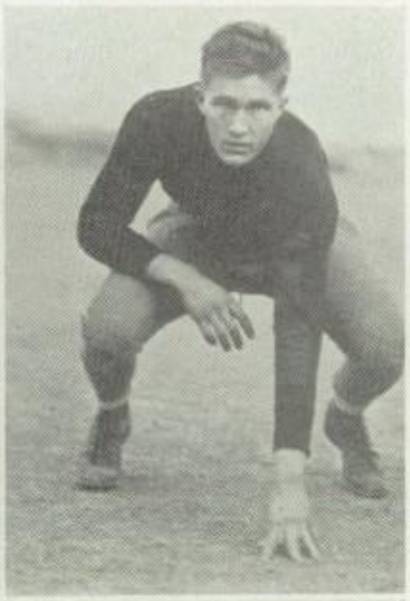
J. L., brother to Crudd, took turns playing at center with Charlie. He fought well in his position and was a vital factor in the line.



The W. C. Stripling High School of Fort Worth offered the next opposition. Ragged play and lack of punch were much in evidence from the local team throughout the game. The Yellow Jackets had their way for two touchdowns.

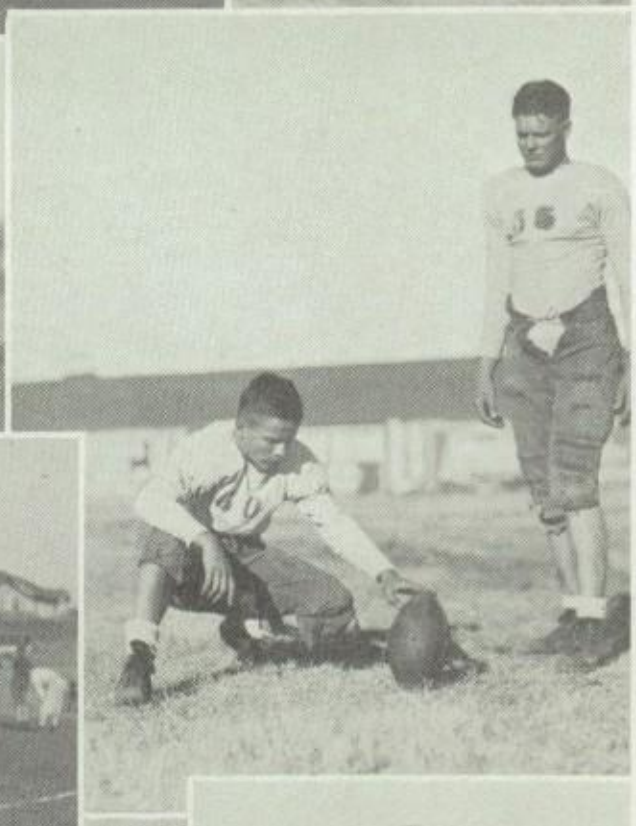
The concluding game of the season was played with Abilene at Wichita Falls on Thanksgiving Day, ideal for football, drab, cold, and crisp. The visitors had an all-state quarterback who performed tricks on the field for the entertainment of the fans. The Pack held its own, especially in the last half, but had no chance of winning the game against the aggressive Eagles.

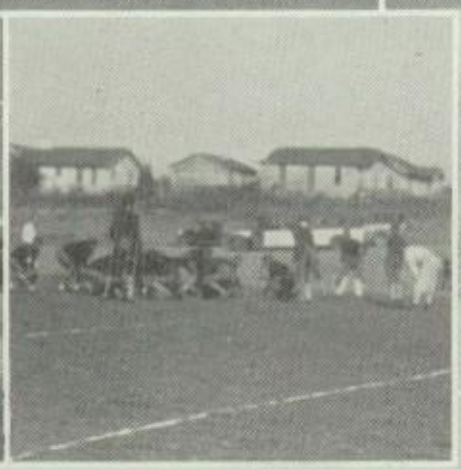




Lee Roy McBride

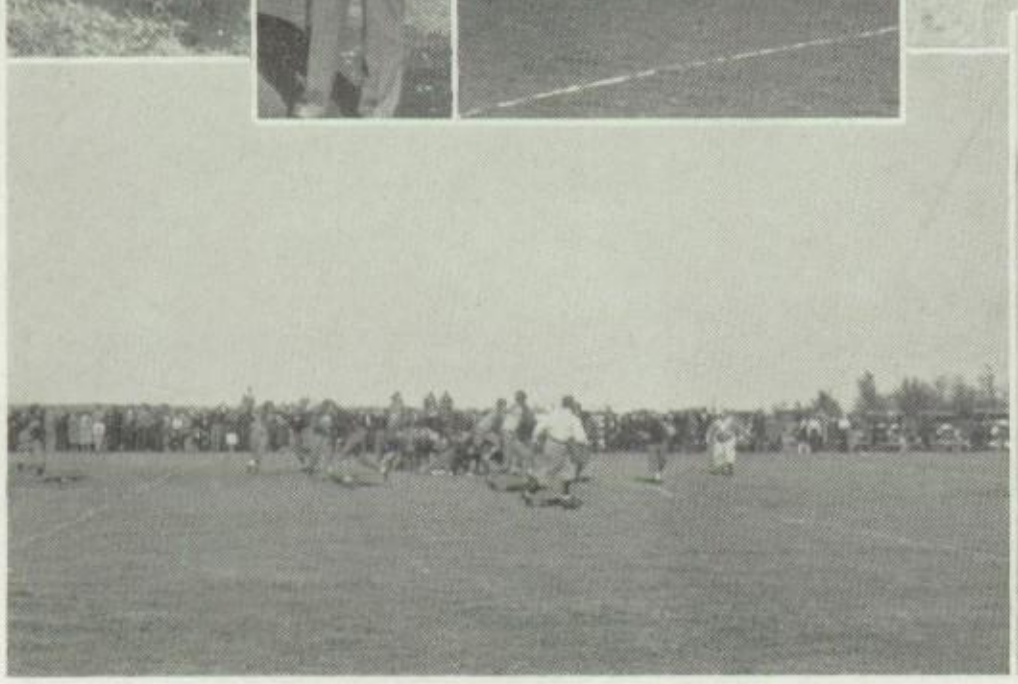
Jovial Lee Roy, a smashing tackle, was a fighter, spilling quite a number of runners from the opponents behind their own line of scrimmage.

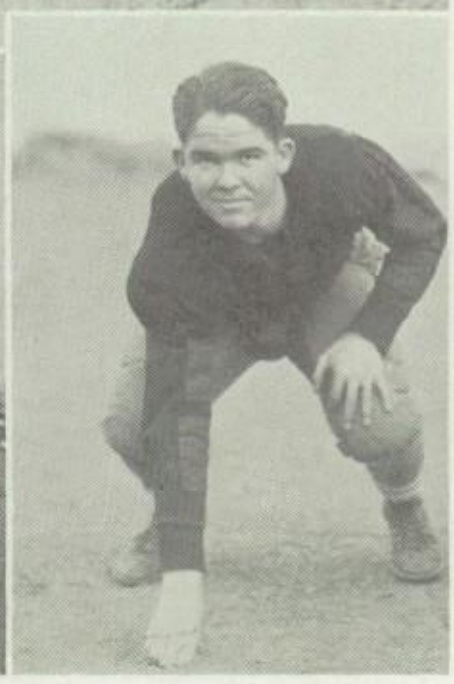




Robert Decker

Bob Decker was a mainstay in the forward wall, playing left tackle in an impressive manner, taking out his man almost every time. He hit hard and stayed in the fight. Pierson assisted in the kicks.



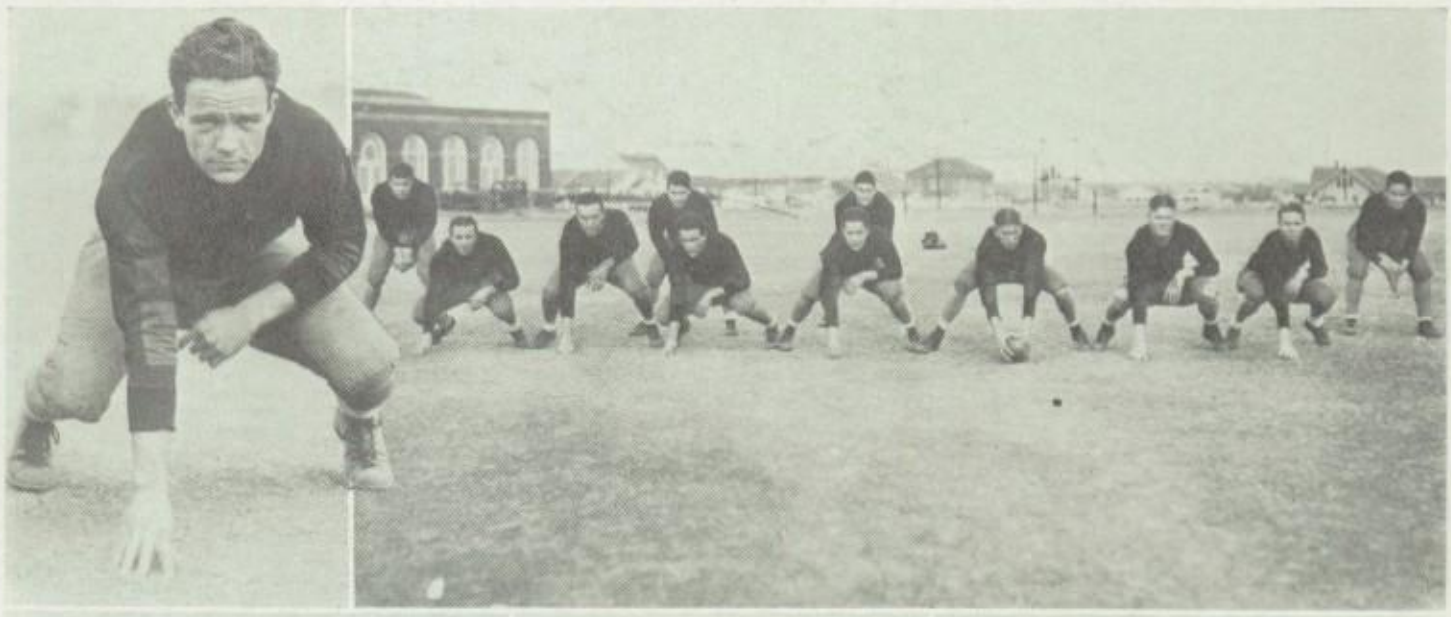


Vernon McDaniel

Vernon, a good husky lad weighing about two hundred pounds, stopped opponents when they came his way. He was one of the boys who kept strict training rules.

The season was not a very profitable one for the Coyotes, since they lost and won conference games equally. The playing during the season was irregular and lacking in a real consistent fighting spirit. Many of the boys played well at times, some making spectacular plays, but there was never that clicking team work so necessary to consistent winning.

The end of the season was declared with a banquet at the Woman's Forum late in January. Several athletes and coaches spoke, and twenty-four letter men were announced at that time. Captains for the 1933 season were elected, Powell and Foster. Later, in assembly, scarlet sweaters with black W's were presented to the letter men.

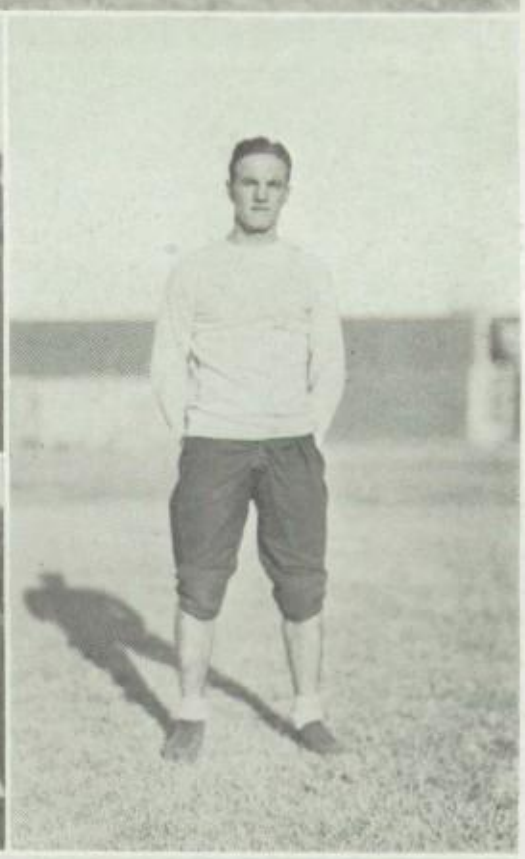


Farris Johnson

Farris, another handsome line man, believed that during the sixty minutes of play, a man was supposed to play ball. He usually followed out his idea.

Jasper McBride

Jasper was the most consistent passer on the team, having worked at it all summer. His tossing accounted for many yards gained in a crucial moment. Although an injury kept him out the latter part of the season, he made an excellent record.



Philip Allen

Philip alternated at guard and tackle but just couldn't play well unless he was angry. This firey disposition caused many conflicts along the line of scrimmage.

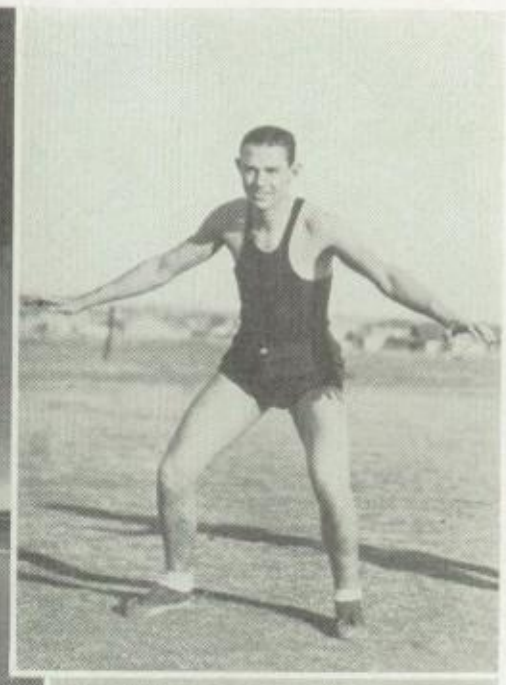
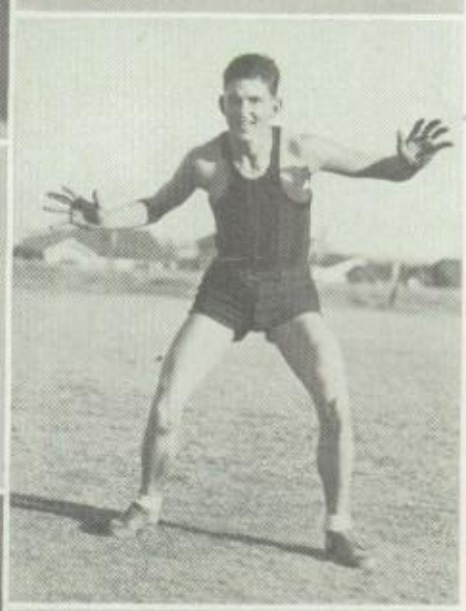
BASKETBALL



Preston Thompson

Preston was captain of the '33 season, in high spirits at all times winning or losing. He played one of the finest seasons of his athletic career at guard.



Henry Wineinger

Wineinger was a husky, determined forward with plenty of fight. He had a habit of taking enemy passes and converting them into goals. He played a steady game.

Dutch Chatterton

Dutch was the defense shattering forward. He could dribble through the five-man defense in good shape and shoot goals from long range. His grin and fine physical condition helped him play well.

THE TEAM

Seated: Underwood, Chatterton, Thompson, Greenwood, Wineinger.

Jack Randolph

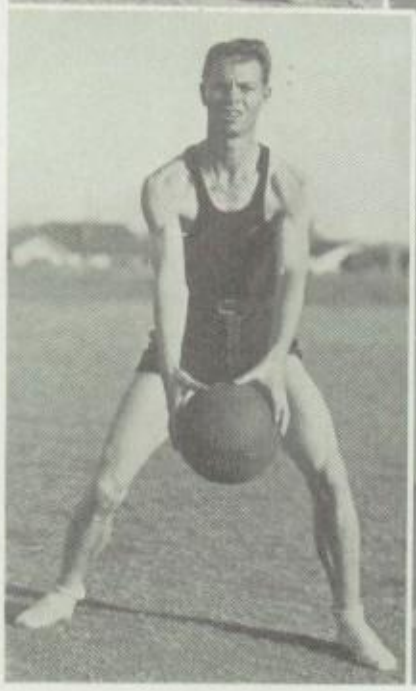
Jack, a fast little dribbler, liked to shoot long goals, but he just couldn't get them in there all the time. His size could have been a handicap, but he seemed not to bother.

Bob Decker

Bob played at center and seldom missed his tip-off. He was an excellent scorer for the team, seeming to make them easily, almost dropping them in the basket at times.

Ed Greenwood

Ed put in the same fine playing that he had displayed in football with his usual fine sportsmanship. He did not score very often because his task was that of guard, just as important one.



THE FIRST TEAM

After a week's rest from football activities Coaches Jefferies and Lindsey began practice for the 1933 basketball season. A large group answered the call for cagers and several teams started play. Soon, however, many fell by the wayside, and only one scrub team was left to give practice to the main squad which had evolved from the beginning group.

The team, an unusually good-looking one from height and condition, seemed a sure winner but failed to get going toward winning games, until they were in the district tournament. The team seemed never to be working in perfect harmony, and without team work they could not win. A new system of basketball, the five-man defense, was introduced by the new mentor in place of the four-man-running-guard style of the former coach.

The Pack opened the season with the Clara Greyhounds in the home gymnasium, the visitors winning 34-22. As the season advanced Jefferies played his team against practically every team in the district. As the above scores indicate, practically every game was a loss as to scoring a win. Then came the district tournament.

The Coyotes drew an easy place and an easy team but surprised every one by winning 40-22. Bomarton was met in the next round and again a surprise in a win for the home boys, 45-28. Then came Bryson, a real team. The battle that followed was a real game but the Coyotes came out with the larger part of 21-19. Vernon, the outstanding favorite of the tournament met Wichita Falls in the final game. Through the first three quarters of the game Vernon led, but in the fourth quarter the Pack came out with good team play and a fighting spirit. They passed the Vernon score after a stiff battle and plenty of breaks to win with a 23-21 score.

Crowell was the opponent in the bi-district play-off. The first game was a bitter fight and a well-played game for the Coyotes, but the boys were not quite good enough to win the game. The game at Crowell went even worse, and the season ended for the Wichita Falls team, which had at least won a district championship, the first in some seasons.

So few letters being given in track often brings questions. The reason for this is that tracksters must win either fourth or fifth place in the district to letter and first or second place to letter and sweater. Only two of our men qualified for sweaters. They were Cleo Creecy, who was best known for the 100-220 yard dash, and W. D. Humble, first rank man for the mile run. Another man who did notable work was Richard Smith, who ran the 440 yard dash. The track team met in competitive practice meets the best of the teams in the district, among them being Seymour, Electra, and Vernon.

VOLLEY BALL AND BASKETBALL

During the two weeks before the tournament the girls had defeated every volley ball team of class A competition. Then came the first elimination of Bowie, the Coyotesses winning the right to play Petrolia in the semi-finals. Last year's champions defeated them. Probably the most thrilling game, however, was the third place play-off between Wichita Falls and Electra, old rivals, won by Wichita.

Since girls' basketball competition is prohibited by the League, only interclass competition is played. The best groups compete with each other from other classes to decide the school championship.

During the early part of the season a team comprising Rufus King, H. R. Hanks, and Ted Norwood journeyed to Fort Worth to play T. C. U. With the help of Coach Tom McCarty and Raymond McPhail they defeated the T. C. U. team four out of seven matches.

In the district meet King won the singles and paired with Hanks to win the doubles, a feat that has not been accomplished by a Wichita team in several years. Outstanding in the meet was the defeat of the Vernon team in singles and doubles. At the bi-district meet in Vernon, King failed to win the singles, but with Hanks won the way to Austin where they were defeated in an early round.

The girls' double team, Jean Worley and Christine Grozier, were eliminated in the first round of the district meet by Murry, Texas, with a set score of 6-4, 7-5, an indication of the good play with the finalists. Irma Cline, singles' player, won over Seymour 6-0, 6-0, and Olney 6-4, 6-3. She was eliminated in the finals in a bitterly contested match by Mabel Givens of Petrolia. Miss Cline's game is characterized by a moderately hard service and by good ground strokes on both forehand and backhand, but her opponent was a more experienced tournament player.

Dearest Pal,

Gee when I think of all the good times we've had together, my heart just goes pitty-pat. All I can say is here's hoping they continue. When you and I have a spare evening (in the near future) get in your Ford (if you have one or any car) and come over and visit H. and I, we'll try our best to entertain you in royal style. I'm hoping that we'll get "diplomers" next week too! Well I must go cook supper, he'll be home in a few minutes and we're both hungry-as usual. Don't forget me and I won't forget you.
